Peterson's Pencil Award

Mr. Peterson was a man of few pencils... three a year! His bosses decided to award this penny-pinching, prudent, professional with the Conservation Award of the Year for the lowest utilization of pencils.

His son, the other Mr. Peterson, brought us the award and said to have fun.

We collected from pencil holders far and near, the new, the chewed and the abused. With great care we sharpened, we dulled, we scratched, and we doodled each colorful pencil to the proper point.

Mr. Peterson, the son, was very poignantly pleased.

“If my dad wrote it down it was worth reading and remembering.”

Even if you don't have a lowest utilization award, but would like to have your favorite writing utensil framed, be it a crayon, marker, pencil, pen or quill, bring it by and we'll see about making it into your own special award!
